ACS Research Symposium University of Iowa Student Chapter December 7th - Chemistry Building

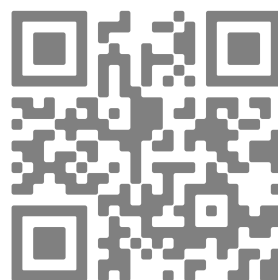

The ACS Student Chapter and the Department of Chemistry are pleased to invite you to attend the 1st ACS Research Symposium, scheduled for 10:00 AM - 12:30 PM on December 7.

We are excited to showcase the research being conducted at the University of Iowa and promote public knowledge of ongoing research being done by graduate and undergraduate students. This is an excellent opportunity to improve professional skills.

Refreshments will be available during the symposium.

The deadline for abstracts is November 22, 2019.

Awards: Scholarships will be awarded to the top 3 presenters and will receive a certificate for their excellent work, along with being recognized at the Department of Chemistry's award ceremony in the spring. A certificate will be given to presentations of note, this would be for presentations that did not place in the top 3 but were still excellent presentations. Award winners will be notified via email following the poster session.

Individuals with disabilities are encouraged to attend all University of Iowa sponsored events. If you are a person with a disability who requires a reasonable accommodation in order to participate in this program, please contact the Department of Chemistry in advance at 319-335-1350.
